In general, it is never good to spend more than 15 minutes in a row, giving a tasion class. Therefore, it includes writing and reading activities so that their students are active and concentrated in their materials, also to participate in the learning process. To do this, proportionate to practical opportunities, such as learning activities (not call games), debates between companions or a space for questions and answers (whether or they do). 3 Includes all students in the classroom. As? Think of different ways to incorporate questions, answers and discussions during class. For example, you can create a system in which everyone puts themselves to work that from preventing students from distraining themselves as long as the rest participates.
